

March 2010 Horoscope By Sioux Rose

ARIES:

It's always a good idea to slow down and keep plans and actions under the radar in the weeks that anticipate your birthday. This year Jupiter, the planet of spiritual as well as financial growth, spends time in your 12th house sector where messages well up from your inner being/soul. Mercury's crossing of this same sector means dreams also act as messengers. Your inner life is talking to you and only through genuine contemplation can you accurately determine what it's trying to relate. Uranus, planet of awakenings, is about to complete a seven-year passage through your soul sector. Since this is the final time the sun meets Uranus in your sector of soul (in 84 years), the potential for a significant leap of consciousness (and understanding) knocks. New moon (15th) joins both lights (sun and moon) with Uranus in your 12th house of rest, retreat, healing, and inward listening. From a celestial point of view, a virtual orchestra is playing inside of you offering a melodic theme worth notice.

TAURUS:

Significant planetary traffic marches across Pisces to stimulate your sector of social engagements. Important developments (or a sterling opportunity) arrive through friends and business colleagues. Destiny now depends on who you know; or the chance to rub elbows with that person situated to open a significant door (one instrumental to your career or personal goals). Mercury, the dealmaker, joins sun and moon as they unite in proximity to Uranus, the maverick. Unprecedented possibilities emerge; but you must think outside of the box, dare to be original... or unconventional. Lucky Jupiter is making its once in twelve-year passage through your 11th house, too. These celestial indications are most promising when there is chemistry among the players, when all are committed to the same goals or aspirations. When the sun enters Aries to light up the spring equinox, gracefully excuse yourself, where possible, from events that will tax your energy. You need time to take in the magnitude of the change in your "sea course."

GEMINI:

Due to curiosity inborn to Gemini's monkey-like twins, your wish to explore new terrain (because you think the grass is greener) is apt to be granted. Jupiter, planet of good fortune is now crossing your zone of career enhancement, and in the dual sign of Pisces' fish either connotes a crossroads, or the indication of a significant choice ahead. Ruler Mercury moves across this same (10th house) sector until the 18th, whilst sun and new moon (on the 15th) bind with Uranus, the key planetary agent of radical change, not to mention invention, innovation, and serendipitous discoveries. Your career horizon looks to be anything but respectful towards the prior status quo. At the least expect a complete revision of office operations and how they will be run. Adaptability is your middle name, so you will be turned on by pending challenges. When the sun gets to Aries on the 21st, you will start rethinking (and re-envisioning) your personal financial design/plan.

CANCER:

In shamanism it's believed one can learn nothing if their cup is already full. Your 9th house of higher learning springs to life this month in a rare manner. For one thing, Jupiter, its natural ruler, passes through and expects you to learn a thing or two. Jupiter is the proponent of law, religion, philosophy, and educational methods designed to expand the mind and thought process. Mercury, who's tasked with compelling mankind to learn to read, write, and develop personal skills, also crosses this zone. Add to the celestial party the sun and new moon (15th) which connects with Uranus, the planet of unexpected possibilities. It's as if a tsunami-like wave of new understanding is being sent across your chart zone most resonant with radical forms of learning. You must give up elements of past conditioning, your worldview, or the way you've looked at things, or evaluated them in the past. Out of your new understanding personal goals become revised. For some, a complete revision of the sense of self (along with its career orientation) will result.

LEO:

Half of the Zodiac players meet in the sign of Pisces this month, and it governs your chart's most mysterious sector. On a mundane plane, Pisces governs the arenas of shared financial access and the dues you must pay. You may have your hands full itemizing actual expenses, perhaps due to the approach of tax time. The higher expressions of the 8th house relate to sexuality, and the life-death-rebirth processes of rebirth. Some Leos may experience a spiritual epiphany or transformational experience this month that alters their view of fiscal priorities and logistics. It's grand to be generous; yet there are times when giving is inappropriate, like when another depends upon your strength instead of his own. Pisces is the place on the cosmic dial where boundaries break down, and this may explain why Leo emulates Shakespeare's Othello in loving not wisely, but too well. Sexuality can take you to an amazing place, particularly mid-month. Personal boundaries become redefined once the sun enters Aries on the 21st.

VIRGO:

Until such time as other than Mercury is designated guide for your sign, your basic learning takes place through logic and items the mind can recall and repeat. Still, a very different species of learning (sentience) becomes activated through your partnership sector this month while half the Zodiac's cast meets there. Ruler Mercury brings the language designed to prompt new dialog with your significant other. Solo Virgos are intended to meet someone significant at this time, so get out and merge! Jupiter, the planet of luck and opportunity now crosses your marital angle, whilst the new moon joins both lights (sun and moon) with Uranus, the maverick planet and signature of the unexpected. Mid-March really rocks the boat if a tie has lost its chemistry, or if a new one is destined to knock. A new individual who radiates irresistible magnetism is apt to come from a background quite different from your own. Their entire belief system will jar you and cause you to review your beliefs. If you had all the answers, the learning curve would not point so vehemently towards shift through a significant other.

LIBRA:

The sensitive sign of Pisces governs your 6th house of work and health matters. It is associated with psychic attunement, compassion, and escapist patterns. And Pisces' expressions figure prominently this month as half the Zodiac's players cross its realm. In fact, new moon unites the lights with Uranus, the planet of unexpected developments. These influences can undermine health if you have allowed your diet or lifestyle to go out of balance. Pisces factors impact your work where you will experience your alliance with others through strongly felt emotional bonds. If rapport is missing, the necessary synergy produced by persons working consciously towards the same objectives, will be disabled. You can act as the force of coherence, the agent that draws like-minded persons together to fulfill common causes. Yet if you are not feeling up to speed or require medical services, energy will be diverted. On the plus side a novel cutting edge approach may emerge as the treatment option you've been seeking. When the sun enters Aries on the 21st, fine-tune the proverbial "art of the dance," the give and take your relationship depends upon.

SCORPIO:

As a water sign, you have the capacity to meld emotionally with another in a way that few can. Pisces, the sign calling each drop of water back to the ocean, governs your 5th house of romantic love, relations with children, and artistic forms of self-expression. The state without boundaries, the one mystics aspire towards, opens its doors (or wider horizon) to you. Lucky Jupiter now crosses this zone and it touches your heart with love's invitation. The sun meets its partner (the moon) for new moon on the 15th as both unite with Uranus, the planet of profound discoveries. The heart experiences a burst of significant new awareness. For some, personal realization may prove luminous. A child beams under the spotlight of your appreciative eyes or perhaps even those of a bona fide audience. Consider it a gift that your chart zone designed for pleasure, recreation, and romance has come alive. Don't let jealousy or suspicion (on the 11th-12th) mar this lovely celestial forecast. Transcend your habit for possessiveness. Appreciate another's independence, a fate the cosmos supports once the sun enters Aries on the 21st.

SAGITTARIUS:

The home front will be the scene of new developments, including a startling one that carries a theme of discovery likely around mid month. Jupiter, your planetary ruler visits your domestic sector once every twelve years; and this month's new moon joins the lights with both Jupiter, and its cosmic cousin Uranus, the Zodiac's undisputed maverick. Where Jupiter widens horizons and presents lucky opportunities, Uranus prompts new, even revolutionary thinking. One must move outside their customary realm of experience for new learning, even if it carries numerous risks. The status quo is apt to shake. You can no more alter the course of fate than imagine yourself capable of living on the moon. Humble the ego and prepare for "the journey." Once the sun enters Aries it will revive your sense of independence and provides fuel in the form of greater personal courage.

CAPRICORN:

In the age of information, the power to communicate (or influence others' minds) counts for a lot. March inevitably brings the sun to your 3rd house of media, communications, and new learning. Yet this year the cosmic menu is enhanced by the presence of two notable heavyweights. Jupiter has begun its once in 12 year crossing of your 3rd house and it is mandated to expand your thought process. Travel and exposure to other cultures and their ways of life could prove instrumental. Secondly, the sun joins new moon (on the 15th) as both luminaries merge with maverick planet Uranus. This is a recipe for either a complete change of mind, a decision with unparalleled implications, or the discovery of a new way of looking at your ordinary life and its daily options. As a result of this new orientation you will determine what you can keep, versus throw away. When the sun enters Aries on the 21st clarity is provided along with the challenge to put into motion what now has become ostensibly clear. Expect intensity on the 25th-26th.

AQUARIUS:

It's pretty much all about money for you this month, as half the Zodiac passes through your fiscal sector. This zone also relates to investments and what you place value in. A shift in your value system could occur, especially close to new moon when the luminaries join forces with your planetary ruler Uranus, the agent of unprecedented changes. Your financial life may express perturbations, particularly mid-month. Jupiter, the herald of good fortune currently opens up new options as it makes its once in twelve year crossing of this sector. You probably feel the sky is the limit, and are not one to let others' caution or pragmatism stand in the way of your dreams or their manifestation. How concrete your plans are, whether this latest wish is built upon solid rock or whimsy, is yet to be seen. Once the sun enters Aries on the 21st, it's destined to conflict with Pluto (25th-26th). An unpleasant truth may percolate up to the surface, or you may find yourself in a power struggle that suggests karma at its root. Libra's full moon on the 30th challenges you to act with fairness and justice in mind.

PISCES:

March is a power month for you, pure and simple; and part of its prophetic portent involves a completely altered sense of self. The Tarot's Magician card suggests the state whereby a person recognizes they have all the tools before them necessary for actualizing their ultimate dreams. Jupiter, the planet of positive beliefs and related outcomes is crossing your sign; and its functions are empowered by the new moon (also in your sign) that takes place on the 15th. Nor is this just any new moon, for the lights join with Uranus, the planet of profound discoveries and novel inventions. With half the Zodiac crossing your sign, the cosmos supports you in redesigning your life from the inside (beliefs, values) out. Someone close to your heart may trigger this process by something they say, or reveal about you on the 3rd. Issues surrounding money and investments may throw you for a loop on the 25th-26th, but these minor events prompt a tremendous increment of personal growth. What's really going on is a process of personal reinvention. Don't be late for this party!
